Baboons live in groups called troops. The biggest and strongest male baboon in the troop is called the alpha male.

Baboons are very clever animals. Some people even think they are very cheeky, as they are very good at problem solving and sometimes take food from people's houses and gardens.

Baboons like to groom each other's hair. Baboons that are close friends will groom each other the most.

When baby baboons play they can be very noisy! They love to run around with their friends and have fun.

Baboons sleep at nighttime, just like us. They like to sleep in high places such as trees or cliffs where they feel safe.
